The Problem with White Folks

We live in a race-obsessed society. If you don't believe it, scan the headlines. You'll see lots about racial discrimination, racial profiling, affirmative action, Black Lives Matter, racist this and racist that, as well as reams of creative claptrap on the wonders of "diversity," "inclusion," "sensitivity," and "tolerance." Anyone who speaks out loud about this and has a job better carefully choose their words to conform to party line political correctness. In America we are free to speak, but not to speak freely.

Distilled to its essence, PC, diversity and all the rest is really about race (with some gender propaganda thrown in). I hate to admit it, but PC has even influenced me to think about race. Before the age of PC I just took folks as they came. But PC has enlightened me, and now I must pigeonhole every soul into one group or another – preferably an "oppressed" or "persecuted" group, so designated by the PC police, and then fashion my interaction with them accordingly. Life is already complicated enough. What a hassle to process all this stuff!

The PC crowd plays the race card at every turn. Calling someone or something racist usually ends the argument, and the poor sod who is bullied with the R word – the badge of universal opprobrium -- immediately begins to grovel and deny it. In the process all is else is forgotten, and PC bullying has once again claimed a petty triumph in the long march to silence dissent.

I didn't pay much attention to PC until it evolved into a Soviet style litmus test for expressing opinion. Now PC thoroughly dominates American social and political discourse. It is supposed to dictate how we think, act and talk. Confusing as it sounds, "diversity" demands conformity.

People are fed up with PC censorship. That is one reason so many voted for The Donald. He alone on the American political scene spoke out against PC. The media's tsunami of fake news couldn't hold a candle to The Donald's speaking truth to power.

So whenever PC is invoked, race comes to mind. And when that happens, we should do like The Donald and look at the big picture.

And the big picture is that White folks, worldwide, have a problem. No, the problem isn't one of insufficient groveling before PC bullies. The problem isn't bogus "White privilege" or "oppression" of any kind. The problem is that Whites are becoming extinct. This is no joke. White folks are slowly but surely disappearing from the planet.

Just so you'll know, White folks are those people whose ethnic and national origins are European. Talk about diversity! They include everyone from Greeks to Germans, Hungarians to Hibernians. They speak many languages, have settled all over the globe, and embrace a wide variety of customs and cultures.

In 1900, White folks were roughly a third of the world's population. Now they are less than half that. In 1913, Europe had more people than China. In 2011 columnist Pat Buchanan published his bestseller Suicide of a Superpower. Chapter Four is entitled "The End of White America" where he wrote "[W]hite America is an endangered species. By 2020, whites over 65 will out-number those 17 and under. Deaths will exceed births. The white population will begin to shrink and, should present birth rates persist, slowly disappear."

He also wrote: "Peoples of European descent are not only in a relative but a real decline. They are aging, dying, disappearing. This is the existential crisis of the West."

Pat is not kidding. The replacement fertility rate is 2.1 births per female. The highest birthrates in Europe are Iceland at 2.04 and Ireland at 2.01. Germany is 1.38 -- seven million fewer Germans by 2050. Spain is 1.32. Austria and Italy are at 1.4. By 2050 Russia's population is projected to shrink 21% from 1990. There are similar grim projections for White folks everywhere. In places like the U.S., Canada and Australia they are also in the same boat, enjoying the good life and neglecting to bother bringing along enough wee ones to replace themselves.

If these trends continue, White folks will one day be few and far between. Demography is destiny. There is no way around it.

Why would that be a problem? I'll just say that having White folks around is like personal freedom and good health: most folks don't know how good a thing is until they lose it. White folks gave us ancient Greece, representative government, classical music, French cuisine, German beer, wondrous inventions, great art, and the Olympics. They built prosperous societies that reach out and help people the world over. They're a decent bunch, and when they're gone, the world will be the worse for it. [A note to PC readers: Don't see hate where it ain't. Just because I like General Tso's chicken does not mean I hate and desire to oppress KFC.]

White European Women being sold into rape slavery. Captured and enslaved by North Africans. An estimate of 2 million Women and Children were enslaved by the North Africans

PC professors "teach" about how White folks have whupped up on other folks and enslaved even others. True enough. They've also fought among themselves quite a bit. But any trial attorney knows that a half-truth is worse than a lie. All peoples of all races have committed their fair share of mayhem. Slavery was a multiracial global racket for thousands of years. Others who have had their common sense indoctrinated away prattle on about supposed "White guilt." Fair enough. What about Red/Yellow/Black/Brown guilt? Yet other professors have railed about the insidious influence of "dead White males" from Tacitus to Teddy Roosevelt. Sounds a little resentful to me – I'd ask the prof for a side of historical context, extra truth and hold the hate.

So millennials, it is your turn at bat. Think globally and act locally to do something about the birth death. You know what I'm talking about. Settle down and raise a family! Life isn't all about creature comforts, high tech devices and hooking up. You can't buck Mother Nature. The good old White folks have a heritage to preserve, protect and propagate. Get it? Charity isn't the only thing that begins at home.
